THE CHICKEN OR THE EGG

The nut or the shell

So hard to get, you are. You will be enjoyed solely because you are so hard to access.

Enveloped, only nails can unshell you. Nails, I have none.

Thus I will never get you.

This is unavailability, I recognize it from the days.

So confused - work must come first.

So confused - one must sleep to be awake.

Even more confused - one must work for a living.

So hard to grasp, you are.

You are right there, but you cannot be understood.

You are work, and I will never get you.

I will never quite grasp your purpose.

Work for a living, they say.

But it is not further explained.

The shell has a promise of a creamy seed.

This creamy seed.

Let us coin its existence, let us name it.

It will be dubbed "Pistachio".

So hard to get, it is, immersed in its shell of rarity and promise.

I will unshell it,

hence I will enjoy it.

Creamy seed, I like you so much

I would go so far as to declare that I like you so much that I would repeat the action

I would do it all over again if possible, and possible it is only death is the limit to the amount of times I can repeat the action

unshell
enjoy unshell
enjoy.

AS LONG AS I LIVE, UNTIL I LEAVE THIS EARTH, I SHALL UNSHELL TO ENJOY
I SHALL WORK TO LIVE

One slight problem though, sorry for the inconvenience
but as I mentioned
I have no nails
nails, I have none.
Nonsense
sense, I have none.

Unable to unwrap
hence I will never enjoy.

A solution for me could be to get a hold of a half of a shell that can unfold the whole shell but to get a hold of a half of shell I will have to unfold the whole shell and I have no nails to unfold the whole shell so I'll not get a hold of a half of a shell.

I will never quite get it, never will I grasp it.
What came first, the nut or the shell?
